

To our valued customers,

Washington, along with other states, has been issued a "Shelter at Home" order by our state government due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

Transmission Unlimited & Automotive Repair provides goods and services to a wide range of customers and applications, including support of our government, agricultural and transportation industries. As a direct and indirect service provider, Transmission Unlimited & Automotive Repair is directed to maintain an appropriate level of service and parts capabilities to support our customers and contracts. At the same time, we recognize our social responsibility to protect our employees and the community to the best of our ability.

Although we are in a dynamic situation, literally changing daily, Transmission Unlimited & Automotive Repair is currently fully operational in all areas and expect to be able to fully service our customer's needs. Where feasible, employees are working remotely, and we have developed internal procedures to ensure a safe and healthy workplace for our employees.

If you are concerned about delivery of your vehicle to us we have multiple options to provide distancing during your service - call us @ 360 736 2548 so we discuss with you how we can accommodate your needs.

Transmission Unlimited & Automotive Repair will provide any updates to our customers should the current situation change.

Sincerely,

Eric Bagley
